

The Ultimate Automation Checklist

Is your business process a candidate for...

Desktop Automation

Does the process require human intervention?

Does the process require use of data that cannot be predetermined?

Is the process triggered by a human user?

Does the user need to enter information during the process?

Does the process require interaction with an online customer during the execution of the process?

Does the user need to enter the same information again and again in several places/systems?

RPA

Is the process free from human judgement?

Is it possible to map the entire process based on predefined inputs?

Is it possible for a robot to initiate the process according to a defined event/schedule?

Is the business process rules-based?

Is the business process highly repetitive?

Is the process driven across business units, regions, functions, etc.?

Find out more!